dhi

Digital Projects Showcase Fall 2019

Friday

November 7, 2018

Student Union West,

Building 58W,

Rooms 3804, 3805, 3806

UNF
Digital Humanities Institute

10 a.m. – Noon | Posters and Streaming Media Session
Student Union West, Rooms 3804, 3805, 3806

Dashboard for Extracting Regional Insights and Ranking Food Deserts in Northeast Florida.
Umapathy, Richard, Wright, Singh, Conwell, Allen, Goodkind, Bell, Neff
Helping Feeding Northeast Florida to develop data-driven approaches to identify neighborhoods that are at-risk for hunger by developing a Food Desert GIS Dashboard with publicly available datasets.

Reverse Correlation
Dagsaan, Johnson
Building Classification Images (CI) of mental representations using the reverse correlation approach.

University of North Florida: Measuring and Mapping the Footprint of Growth Over Time
Baynard, Murray, Cummings, Howard, Black, Thorpe
Examining the comprehensive growth of UNF over time, with remotely sensed aerial imagery and GIS techniques.

coloniaLab: Fall 2019 Update on Current Projects
McCarl, Boulter, Brady, Kelly, Mendieta, Sanchez, Thom, Wilson
Transcribing and TEI-XML encoding manuscript and rare print materials related to the colonial period in Latin America.

Voces y Caras: Hispanic Communities of North Florida
López, Boyles, Jaramillo, Martinez, Mendieta
Ongoing digital oral history project that engages heritage speakers of Spanish in recording interviews with members of the growing Hispanic/Latinx community.

Photovoice: An Alternative Methodology for LGBTQ+ Ethnography
Pfister, Mullis
Exploring the use of photovoice as an ethnographic research method to investigate health and wellness in the LGBTQ+ community.

Mapping the Quixotic Imagination: Madrid in Pérez Galdós's Misericordia
Fernández Cifuentes, Burton, Cioffi, Fleites, Salinas, Wilson
Mapping the wanderings through 19th-century Madrid of the main characters of Benito Pérez Galdós' famous novel, Misericordia (1897).

Deception Detection in Mediated Communication
Arnold, Stewart
Developing an effective methodology to discover cases of deception in mediated interactions such as conversations via social media, online dating platforms, and company reviews.

Embroidering for Peace and Memory
Fleites
Creating a digital archive for the 400 pieces of embroidery produced by UNF and the North Florida community to commemorate Women's History Month annually since 2012.

A Syllabus History for the UNF Semicentennial
Heffernan, Meija, Myles, Bowen
Recapturing the pedagogical history of what has happened in UNF classrooms for 50 years by archiving and interpreting syllabuses with Omeka.

The UNF-ADRELA Internship: Supporting the Development of an International DH Community
McCarl, Martinez
Reflecting on the first ever UNF internship for ADRELA, an International scholarly collective for digital research on Early Latin America.

Native Sun: The Flora of Sawmill Slough Preserve.
Malcolm-Bjorklund, Weiner
Creating an aesthetic record of the native flora found in the Sawmill Slough Preserve.

Streaming Films and Podcasts on: Muay Thai fighting, The History of the Sun-Ray Building, Iron Sculpture, Old Motels of Jacksonville, Permaculture Lawns, Midnight Dance, Passengers of the Skyway, Legend of the Florida Skink Ape, and more..
Smith
AfterImage Documentary Production.

Noon - 1 p.m. | World GIS Day Roundtable on Digital Maps in Research and Teaching
Student Union West, Room 3806

Dr. Felicia Bevel, Department of History: "Rethinking the History of Racial Violence Spatially: The Digital Map as Pedagogy and Practice"

Dr. Brent Mai, Dean of Thomas Carpenter Library: "Tracking Socio-Economic Movement Patterns — Across 250 Years and Six Continents"

Dr. Chris Baynard, Department of Economics and Geography: "Flying below 400 feet: Imagery Acquisition and Analysis with Drones, Kites, Balloons and Poles."