IMAGINING REPAIR THROUGH SOCIAL INFRASTRUCTURE: SIBYL'S SHRINE

Join UNF's Digital Humanities Institute and Dr. Caitlin Bruce for a virtual event discussing Sibyl's Shrine, an artist network for black artist caretaker mothers created to address multiple inequities in terms of care, labor, and artistic infrastructure. This presentation draws on interviews with the founders and some participants as well as the program's social media archive to explore how the residency enables communal art process as a kind of place-keeping praxis, and some of the challenges of place-keeping.
